We understand that the list we described in the previous email is not the content that you asked us to remove. And we understand that you asked us to remove "all videos, metadata, and uses of the TED logo and branding".

The following is one of searching results. Please teach us where are the elements that you pointed out, that is "videos, metadata, and uses of the TED logo and branding".

As to "TED branding", we are going to add the following message.

"This site is not the official site of TED, but a search engine specializing in exploring TED Talks. It has been created for educational and scientific purposes."
